A Japanese Lacquer Cabinet on Silvered Stand

The Cabinet Japanese And The Stand English, *circa 1700

A fine late 17th, early 18th century silvered mounted Japanese black and gilt lacquer cabinet on a William and Mary silvered stand; the cabinet decorated throughout, including the top, with birds and pavilions within mountain landscapes, with a pair of doors with silvered and engraved mounts, hinges and lock plates opening to reveal ten drawers of differing sizes similarly decorated together with a nashiji border; the sides of the cabinet later decorated and with carrying handles. The stand profusely carved with foliage and flowers, the apron centred by a putti on a floral swag, on cabriole legs with scrolled feet.
