A SET OF SIX CHIPPENDALE PERIOD SIDE CHAIRS

England, circa 1765

The superb carved backs on this fine set of chairs relate very closely in design to a single example previously with Moss Harris & Sons and shown at the Art Treasures Exhibition at Christie's in 1932 (no. 161) – the same chair was included that year in The Illustrated London News, A Page for Collectors - A Talk About Chairs, 14 May 1932, p. 816 and described as 'A Chair that is Worthy of Chippendale at its Best; a Masterpiece that indicates its origin by its delicate tracery and its fine and graceful pattern'.

A superb set of six George III Chippendale period mahogany side chairs. Each with particularly finely carved back with pierced splat and blind fretwork carved rear stiles. On plain chamfered legs, joined by an H-stretcher. The seats upholstered.
