A GEORGE III MARQUETRY COMMODOE

England, circa 1770

This wonderful commode in the French taste relates closely to a group of furniture attributed to the celebrated 18th century Royal cabinet-maker John Cobb and discussed in Lucy Wood, Catalogue of Commodes, 1994, pp. 88 - 97. In particular, the marquetry inlaid decoration to the top and the spray of flowers to the ovals of the doors has close affinities to a commode supplied to Thomas Villiers (1709 - 1786), Baron Hyde of Hindon and laterly the 1st Earl of Clarendon, illustrated in Lucy Wood, op. cit., pl. i - ii, p. 88. Comparisons can also be made to another commode with a similar trellis design, illustrated op. cit., pl. 84, p. 94 and another with similar floral inlay illustrated op. cit., pl. 90.

For further comparisons see The Journal of Furniture History, Colin Streeter, Marquetry Tables from Cobb's Workshop, vol. X, 1974, pp.52-53, pl. 28a - 30b.

A very closely related commode, the property of the Rt. Hon. Lord Carew, was offered Christie's, London, April 1966.

Another in the collections of the Connolly family at Castletown, was photographed in Country Life. 22 August 1936, p. 199, fig 6 and 8

Another advertised Sothebys, 26 January 1968 in Burlington Magazine
